

▼ Interior designer Sally Steponkus recommends this “super cute” Lucite recipe box with personalized recipe cards by Dabney Lee. Choose from a large assortment of colors, patterns, and fonts for the cards to match any kitchen. $80, available through Steponkus Interiors, 202.237.9872, steponkus.com.

▲ Any country kitchen would benefit from these hefty-yet-ergonomic hand-forged steel choppers and pizza cutter, $26-$38 each, chosen by Sandra Meyers, principal of Sandra Meyers Design Studio LLC. Designed for cheese, veggies, and herbs, the tools are sharp in more ways than one. At Material Possessions, 888.241.1190 or materialpossessions.com. Sandra Meyers Design Studio LLC, 301.929.9788 or sandrameyersdesign.com.

▲ Designer Raji Radhakrishnan of Raji RM & Associates offers a pleasant, practical suggestion: a stainless steel Rub-Away bar to “wash” onion and garlic smells ($6.95 from amazon.com) from hands and a long-handled scrub brush ($4 from Dean & DeLuca) to save manicured fingers. Present them in porcelain for elegant effect – Apilco dishes of various sizes and shapes at Williams Sonoma, 877.812.6235 or williamssonoma.com. Raji RM & Associates, 703.542.7889, rajirm.com.

▼ Salad has never had it so good. Lynni Megginson's picks for the kitchen are silver-plated dogwood salad servers that are sculptural and also nod to Virginia's state flower. $125, available through LM Designs, 301.987.9135 or lmdesigns.net.

